Quality maintenance as per the WHO Guidelines

Institution follows the WHO guidelines for maintenance of cold chain and preservation of vaccines. All the vaccines are preserved in Ice lined Refrigerator (ILR). The temperature indicator is attached to the refrigerator and the same is maintained with strict guidelines by keeping daily record in the notebook.

Assistant Professor /Senior Resident daily checks for the following quality indicators for vaccination:

1. Daily counter signature on temperature record maintenance book.
2. Daily checking the event register
3. Prompt reporting of adverse effects related to vaccines to pharmacovigilance centre.

Department of Pediatrics follows following strategy for quality maintenance

1. Frequent arrangement of sensitization program for newly joined staff regarding working pattern of vaccination clinic and preservation of vaccination.
2. Vaccine audit committee meeting quarterly and when and where needed.
3. Regular maintenance of all equipments present in vaccination clinic.

Ice lined refrigerator (ILR) – vaccines are stored as per WHO guidelines
